SUPPLIER CODE OF ETHICS

DGC International (DGCI) and its respective affiliates, subsidiaries and divisions operate business in a responsible, legal, moral and ethical manner. At DGCI, the way we conduct business is as important as the products and services we provide. Accordingly, DGCI will only do business with Suppliers, that comply with all applicable international and domestic laws, rules, and regulations (collectively herein referenced as “Applicable Laws”) and at a minimum, with standards of business conduct consistent with those set forth in this Supplier Code of Ethics (“Code”).

DEFINITION

For the purposes of this Code, “Supplier” is defined as any third party that directly or indirectly sells, or seeks to sell, any kind of goods or services to DGCI or its subsidiaries or on DGCI’s behalf, including suppliers, contractors, subcontractors, distributors, dealers, sales/marketing representatives, intermediaries, agents, partners, consultants, resellers, systems integrators, or similar entities.

ETHICS

DGCI SUPPLIERS ARE EXPECTED TO:

Promote an organizational culture that encourages ethical conduct and compliance with applicable laws, your company values, code of ethics, and policies.

Provide an avenue(s) for employees to raise ethical and legal concerns without the fear of retaliation.

Take the necessary actions to prevent, detect, and appropriately resolve concerns, including retaliatory behaviors.

MAINTAIN ACCURATE RECORDS

Our Suppliers must create accurate records and shall not alter any record entry to conceal or misrepresent the underlying transaction represented by it. All records, regardless of format, made or received as evidence of a business transaction must fully and accurately represent the transaction or event being documented. When a record is no longer needed to conduct current business, records should still be retained based on the applicable retention requirements. Suppliers performing as US Government contractors (whether direct or indirect) must comply with the requirements in FAR 4.703.

Suppliers that are performing or fulfilling a US Government role in their prescribed work must comply with the records requirements of the affected agency and any relevant National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) Universal Electronic Records Management requirements that apply to that agency.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Our Suppliers must treat people with respect and dignity, encourage diversity, remain receptive to diverse opinions, promote equal opportunity for all, and foster an inclusive and ethical culture.

CHILD LABOR

Our Suppliers must ensure that illegal child labor is not used in the performance of work. The term “child” refers to any person under the minimum legal age for employment where the work is performed.

HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Suppliers must adhere to regulations prohibiting human trafficking and comply with all applicable local laws in the country or countries in which they operate.

Suppliers must refrain from violating the rights of others and address any adverse human rights impacts of their operations.

Suppliers are required to educate employees on prohibited trafficking activities, discipline employees found to have violated the law or rules and notify the Contracting Officer and the Agency Inspector General of violations and action taken against employees.

Specifically, Suppliers are prohibited from:

- Destroying, concealing, or confiscating identity or immigration documents;
- Using misleading or fraudulent tactics in recruiting;
- Charging employee recruitment fees or providing inadequate housing based on local standards, laws and directives;
- Failing to provide employment contracts and other documentation in the employee’s native language;
- Failing to provide return transportation to the employee’s home of record upon the end of employment for employees brought to the country for the purpose of working on a U.S. government contract or subcontract; and
- Failing to interview and protect employees suspected of being trafficking victims.
